the subject of an address Wednesday evening by Mrs. Edward Morris Jones, Philadelphia, in the local YWCA building. "The subject is particularly appropriate," Mrs. Jones said, "in that the preamble of the UN begins 'We, the people of the United Nations," and emphasizes people by mentioning men and women before nations."

Mrs. Jones was introduced by Mrs. John S. Rice, chairman of the Public Affairs committee of the board of directors of the YWCA, who stated that Mrs. Jones, a recognized political science authority, recently visited 11 foreign countries in a trip of 12,000 miles. James F. Lind, the Democratic Congressman from the district in which the National Cemetery is located: Francis J. Myers, the Democratic United States Senator; Pittsburgh's Mayor David L. Lawrence, a member of the Democratic National Committee, all importuned the President to attend the exercises next month.

"The President finds he must again decline this year," one of the Truman secretariat wrote Rep. Lind. "His calendar for the month of May is already very crowded .

Of course he has a crowded calendar. Mr. Truman leaves in May on a "non-political" tour of the West. He will visit many towns and deliver many speeches in which he is expected to make non-political appeals for the election of a Democratic Congress in the fall. And he'll cap the tour by attending the midmonth sessions of the Democratic National Committee in Chicago. Here, more likely than not, he will lay down the law for the conduct of the Democratic campaign.

Long before Memorial Day Mr. Truman will be back in Washington. No doubt he has other stints scheduled. Inquiry at the White House, however, elicited the information he has no fixed engagements for that day.

In the absence of anything definite, you can only speculate on the reason for President Truman's year-by-year rejection of tysburg. Certainly he must know the Civil War is over, that men who wore the Gray of the South have visited the battlefield on which the hopes of the Confederacy were shattered.

It may mean to make them eat more feed, and particularly mash. It ought to be remembered that mash is more important in the laying birds' diet than grain, but one ought to watch out that the mash consumption should never drop below 50 per cent of all feed eaten. As long as you do not fill your feed hoppers more than half full, there will not be much feed wasted. What are some essential considerations in planning a new poultry house? Those Vitamins!

ALWAYS READY to take advantage of popular fancy, unscrupulous organizations headed by high-pressure promoters seem determined to exploit public health to the last degree. They are particularly active in the vitamin field. When you are tempted by wild advertising claims to buy and take vitamin preparations, remember that you probably do not need them at all. If you feel that you do, consult your physician. He alone knows the type of vitamin you may need, if any. Rely on his advice. We are in position to fill promptly any prescription he may write.
